Engraved Invitations Not Needed for Cooking School

Interest Spreads in Antioch News' Free Show Feb. 22-24, Antioch Theatre

A welcome invitation to the wise is sufficient.

Evidently the Antioch News will not have to get out engraved invitations for that reunion of homemakers February 22, 23 and 24 at the Antioch Theatre.

Good news does travel fast, especially when its news of a gala party for the community, with gifts, with quality entertainment, cheered by jollity and novelty, and spiced with knowledge—all served hospitably by The Antioch News.

No door cards, coupons, printed invitations, or cash will be needed; just the countersign of all alert housekeepers, who are due to say "Show me the latest home ideas," when the advance on Antioch Theatre at two o'clock on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 22, 23 and 24.

Showing every person in every theatre seat the triumphant new 1938 Cooking School, direct from Hollywood, will be no problem, for motion picture ingenuity has joined forces with scientific homemaking to produce an original laboratory course that deftly combines romance, sprightly humor, originality and profitable instruction.

All of the popular features of the former Cooking School are here; The free recipe sheets, the atmosphere of congenial informality, the wise counsel, the hints on clever short-cuts, the up-to-the-minute suggestions for entertaining, the demonstration of delicious and nourishing dishes, the array of modern kitchen equipment and the distribution of daily gifts and real surprises.

All those elements of fun and profit have been retained, and all are made doubly worthwhile because every guest of The Antioch News will have an individual close-up of every process.

This scientific new laboratory of ideas has graduated out of the class where hundreds of women craned their necks in a vain attempt to see what was happening on the stage, or assailed the lecturer with plaintive cries: "Hold it up high, where we all can see."

Now the camera will make the course truly fascinating and valuable, with remarkable close-ups of each process in a series of model, convenient.

F. E. Cremin, Lake Villa, Ill.
H. C. Dunker, McHenry, Ill.
Joe Keisler, Prairie View, Ill.

Young People Are Invited to County Conference Feb. 13

All young people of high school age or over are urged to attend a conference sponsored by the Young People's Division of the Lake County Council of Religious Education at the Libertyville Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, February 13, at 8:00 o'clock.

The speaker for the occasion will be Rev. John Schneider of the Albany Park M. E. church of Chicago, and his subject will be "Tomorrow." There will be music by Miss Kathryn Abney of Libertyville and the Highland Park young people. The opening service will be conducted by the Rev. G. M. Garber of the Libertyville Presbyterian church.

Following the address the young people of the Libertyville church will have charge of the social hour. Refreshments will be served.

DEMOCRATIC PURGE PROVES BOOMERANG FOR COUNTY CHAIRMAN

"Purification" Program Is Denounced as a Grave Political Error

"This motion is out of order. I rule the motion out of order. Meeting adjourned."

So shouted Dr. R. R. Bosworth, Highland Park dentist and chairman of the Lake County Democratic Central committee, thus ending a revolt of precinct committeemen over the Democratically inaugurated gambling reform, by adjourning Friday night's committee meeting in the midst of what is reported to be a turbulent argument.

Dissension broke loose just after the committeemen had adopted a resolution endorsing the candidacy of County Clerk Russ Alford for reelection. That was when Alderman William E. Schaefel of Waukegan, committeeman from the sixteenth Waukegan precinct, moved that a roll-call be taken to determine whether the Democratic party in Lake County as an organization, had demanded the purging of the county of all gambling and gaming devices or whether it was the work of individuals acting as leaders of the party without the sanction of the committee as a whole. The motion met with "second" from all parts of the floor, and demands were made for an immediate roll-call. It was at this point that Chairman Bosworth pounded his gavel and adjourned the meeting.

Repercussions of the stormy session are being heard throughout the county, which are said to amount to the decision to replace at the forthcoming primary those committeemen responsible for the untimely launching of the "purification" program, which is regarded as a grave political error. Those slated for removal include Chairman Bosworth of course.

While many believe that the removal of the gaming devices is a desirable thing, it is evident that the majority of committeemen object to making the matter of political significance. It is generally understood that gambling exists by virtue of public sentiment in its favor and has no place in politics, either Democratic or Republican.

Among those mentioned prominently as a possible successor to Chairman Bosworth are Jack Baird, young attorney of Waukegan, who was a candidate for state's attorney two years ago, and Einar Sorenson of Channel Lake, who has been a party leader for many years, and is present vice chairman of the county committee.

To Hold Farmer Day at High School Sat.

Annual Farmer Day, with free movies, demonstrations, with prizes and free lunch at noon will be staged at the Antioch High school this Saturday, February 5, by Al J. Pedersen, local dealer, and the Massey-Harris company.

Tractors and farm implements will be on display, and all who are interested in agricultural methods are invited to be present at the school at 10 a. m. Thirty prizes will be distributed.

Grass Lake P.T.A. to Hold Basket Social Feb. 11th

You're coming, aren't you? Everyone will be there! Be where? Why, at the Grass Lake P. T. A. basket social to be held Feb. 11 in Haling's dining room.

Cards will be played—and bunco—and just listen to this: There will be SIX door prizes—plus 14 other prizes! Baskets will be auctioned off—no bid to exceed $1.00. The money will be contributed in full to the P. T. A. fund.

After cards comes the eat and then dancing.

We'll all be there—so won't you join us? Finel! Don't forget the date, place, time and cause—Feb. 11, 8:00 p. m., at Haling's, and it's for the benefit of the Grass Lake P. T. A. The admission is only 10 cents.

CONTEND PRICE ON SANITARIUM SITE IS FAR TOO HIGH

Offered at $500 an Acre; County to Pay More Than $637

Citizens who have been investigating into the plan of the County board of supervisors to purchase the old Wooley tract on Belvidere street, in Waukegan, as the site of the proposed Tuberculosis sanitarium are mystified by the fact that while the property was offered for sale at $500 an acre through real estate brokers by the owners, the county intends to pay more than $637 an acre for the land.

Under an agreement reached between the sanitarium board of Lake County, which is representing the county board in the transaction, and Elizabeth Hardiman and Esther B. Corzine, owners of the property, the county agrees to pay $10,000 in cash and to assume the payment of all unpaid general taxes and all installments on special assessments due and to become due on special assessment No. 945 of the city of Waukegan. The agreement contains this provision:

Cite Provisions
"Said Sanitarium Board of Lake County agrees to purchase said tract of land from the sellers for the said price and agrees to pay the purchase price upon the furnishing to said Board of a guaranty policy in the amount of Fifteen Thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars, showing said title to be free and clear, subject as aforesaid, and the delivery of a good and sufficient warranty deed; said guaranty policy to be furnished within thirty (30) days from the date hereof."

The unpaid general taxes on the property up until 1936 represent a total of $2,642.38 while the 1937 taxes not yet paid total $164.64. The special assessments due on the property now total $1,469.38. This makes a total of $4,276.40 as being due in taxes and special assessments. Added to the $10,000 offered for the property the county has agreed to pay $14,276.40 for the land.

List Other Properties
It has been pointed out that the Tyrell tract located to the east and regarded as more favorable property for building purposes is being offered for sale at $500 an acre while land owned by Frederic H. Bartlett and company located several blocks to the west can be bought for $250 to $300 an acre.

SPRINGFIELD FUTURE FARMERS BUY ELEVEN HEAD OF CATTLE HERE

Downstate Boys Are Guests of Antioch Ag. Dept. Saturday

Seven Future Farmers, their adviser and an Assistant State Vocational Supervisor from Springfield, Illinois, spent Saturday and Sunday purchasing pure bred dairy heifer and bull calves in the vicinity of Antioch. They were the guests of the Dept. of Vocational Agriculture of the Antioch Township High school and were conducted on a dairy farm tour to 21 dairy farms by C. L. Kutit, director of the local school.

Eleven head of young stock were purchased for a total of $535.00. Four head of Guernseys were purchased from Henry and Albert Herman; one from William White; and one from Lloyd Atwell. Two head of Holsteins were bought from Charles Wray; two from George and Homer White; and one from E. E. Elsberry.

This is the second time the Springfield High school vocational students have visited Antioch on a cattle buying tour. In the spring of 1936, eight head of young heifers were purchased. Mr. Kutit reports that with several other outside purchases during the past summer and fall, Antioch is fast gaining a fine reputation as a good place to purchase registered livestock. Since last spring as many as twenty-nine head of cattle, sheep and hogs have been purchased in this vicinity through the assistance of the local High school's Vocational Dept. of Agriculture.

The total amount of business transacted since May 1st, 1937, was $981.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Nielsen are spending several weeks in Miami, Florida. Mr. Nielsen is doing some deep sea fishing.

EDUCATIONAL GROUP URGES RE-ELECTION OF REP. NICK KELLER

Illinois Association Thanks Legislator for Splendid Record

Representative Nick Keller of the Eighth senatorial district is to receive the backing of the Illinois Educational Association in his campaign for reelection, it was learned this week when a letter from the secretary of the state organization of teachers was made public.

The letter, written in the name of the association, expresses thanks to Rep. Keller for the splendid record he made on school matters at the regular session of the 60th general assembly. The officials of the association give careful scrutiny to the acts of all state legislators, especially roll-call records as related to school legislation.

Helps Cause of Education
The letter also further compliments Rep. Keller on his open mind and strict attention to committee work. It was indicated that the legislator had studied school measures and that he had voted favorably on all important bills in the cause of education.

The endorsement from this statewide group expresses the hope that Rep. Keller's constituents re-elect him for a second term.

The Secretary's letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Keller:
"In the name of the Illinois Educational Association I thank you most heartily for the splendid record you made on roll calls on school bills at the regular session of the 60th General Assembly. I find by studying the journals of the house that you voted favorably to the cause of education on ten of the most important roll calls."

"It is also evident that you studied all school measures with an open mind and gave strict attention to your committee work and the debates on the floor of the house."

"I hope your constituents will keep you in the General Assembly as long as you care to serve them and to give to the schools the same excellent service you gave them this year."

Yours respectfully,
(signed) R. C. Moore.

Aids Labor and Agriculture

Rep. Keller's friends declare that his devotion to the cause of education has not made him less alert to every opportunity to further the interests of labor and agriculture, and they express the belief that he has gained additional strength in these groups during his term of service. However, it was in school legislation that his work came prominently before the public, and it is said that very few of his contemporaries and possibly none of his predecessors have paralleled his record on school legislation. That is easy to understand when it is known that Rep. Keller is a school enthusiast, insisting that the poorest child has an inalienable right to the best opportunity the state can provide. It is a saying of his that "better schools make better children and better citizens."

MOTHERS CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Mrs. C. L. Kutit assisted by Mrs. A. P. Bratrude will entertain the Mothers club at the Kutit home, Wednesday, Feb. 9th. "Mental Hygiene in Relation to Children" will be the subject for discussion with Mrs. Lucy Himens as leader.

BART TYRREL IN RACE FOR SHERIFF

Sgt. Bart Tyrrell of the Waukegan police department, and a former candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, took out petitions at the office of County Clerk Russ Alford today, and will again be a candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket. It was generally reported in Waukegan yesterday that Sgt. Art Stanton of Ingleside who had been mentioned as a possible candidate for sheriff would not enter the race. Mr. Stanton is in charge of the state police in this district.

PERSONS AND EVENTS BLAMED FOR PLIGHT OF U.S., SPEAKER SAYS

Frederic Snyder, Speaker for Woman's Club, Peers into the Future

The United States government is only a ten per cent democracy at the present time, and fascism is inevitable unless American business asserts itself or a war intervenes to cement the warring internal factions together in a common cause to prevent the utter destruction of our form of government. Persons and events are to be blamed for the plight of our people.

That was the amazing statement of Frederic Snyder, world traveler, in his address, "Behind the Headlines," delivered at Antioch High school Tuesday night under the auspices of the Antioch Woman's Club. The lecture was free and was the gift of the local woman's club to the community. Mrs. Ed F. Vos, president of the club, introduced the speaker.

People Hate Dictators
Snyder, known as "the verbal editor," touched on the highlights of the news during the past two years. His travels in Europe and Asia enabled him to present a true word picture of the actual conditions existing among the people in Italy, France, Germany, Russia, and in war-torn Spain and the far east. Church Feature Is Prepared by This Very Capable Writer

Constant contact with young people in church work for many years has made a capable instructor of Harold L. Lundquist, dean of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago and author of the "Sunday School Lesson" which is a regular feature of The Antioch News.

Because of this ever present demand for instruction on the part of youth, Dean Lundquist has learned to express himself in the simplest terms. Thousands of Sunday school teachers refer to this syndicated article each week for their texts and explanations. Seldom has any newspaper feature reached such heights of popularity.

Dean Lundquist is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, a member of the bar, a former army man and a churchman. These varied experiences enable him to understand human nature much better than the average person. He was schooled at the Princeton (N. J.) Theological seminary and was graduated with the first class completing the pastors' course at the Moody Institute.

But formal training does not account for Dean Lundquist's popularity as a speaker before young people's conventions, on anniversary occasions and at men's Bible classes. His wide experiences have kept him abreast of the times, a requisite for popularity among youth today.

ANTIOCH LIONS HEAD PLAN FOR NEW WATERWAY

Seek to Enlist State and Federal Aid for the Project Here

A new waterway for Antioch, with real navigable flowing water right up to the village limits, a project long in contemplation in the minds of many progressive citizens, is again to be brought to the attention of the community at a meeting of the Antioch Lions' club at the Antioch hotel Monday night when Carter Jenkins, chief engineer of the waterways division of the state department of public works and buildings, will bring to the meeting the engineering features of the proposed improvement. The state official is also expected to reveal what assistance may be expected from the state department in co-operating with federal and local authorities in getting the project under way.

Public Invited
The plan of bringing the waters of Chain o' Lakes to Antioch has been before the Lions club for many months, and President Ed Vos is anxious that all interested citizens attend the meeting of the club Monday night, both members and non-members, for all will be welcome.

Proponents of the plan point out that practically all sites which might have been acquired for public parks or beaches have long since become private property, and that in the present proposed project Antioch has one more chance to secure a site that will accrue to the benefit and pleasure of all citizens.

Reclamation Project
Emphasis is also placed on the fact that the plan would not only result in the reclamation of what have always been regarded as almost worthless swamplands, but also would enhance the value of all other real estate in the area with no damage resulting to any of the property contiguous to the improvement. Due to the natural contour and even elevation of the land involved, the cost of the improvement would be extremely low as compared with other projects of a like nature that are not so favorably situated.

It is understood that prominent land owners in the area are heartily in accord with the improvement idea and that their co-operation in the project is to be taken as a matter of course.

Coldest Wave of Winter Puts Glaze on Roads

A drizzling rain Saturday followed by a northwest wind which pushed temperature down to the lowest levels of the winter put an icy glaze on highways, streets and sidewalks making traffic extremely hazardous and causing a score or more of minor accidents and crashes in this vicinity.

Many who had planned to attend the conference of parents and Legion and Auxiliary officials at the high school Saturday night to discuss plans for a child welfare program for this community, found it too risky to venture driving on the icy highways, and because there were only a few present the conference was postponed indefinitely.

Antioch Young People in Hospitals Following Appendicitis Operations

Oliver Hughes is convalescing at the Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan following an operation for appendicitis performed on Sunday morning. Oliver is employed at the Antioch post office.

Miss Wilma Musch, secretary at the Antioch grade school, is today reported to be in a serious condition at the Burlington Memorial hospital where she underwent an operation for appendicitis Tuesday morning.

County Buys New Cars for Sheriff

A fleet of five new Hudson-Terraplane cars for use of Sheriff L. A. Doolittle and his deputies has been purchased by Lake County through Al B. Maier, dealer, of Lake Villa. Recommendation for the purchase was made by the sheriff's committee and referred to the purchasing committee of the board of supervisors, it was reported. All five cars are to be equipped with radio receiving sets and three of them have two-way sets. The cars were tested by sheriff's deputies before the purchase was recommended.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Radtke spent Wednesday in Waukegan.

That "General Feeling" Is No Pipe Dream

That "general feeling" is no pipe dream in the United States today. The politicians can advance all the alibis they like about who, cripples business, but some very simple facts remain—little business and the small investor are afraid. Taxation, political attacks on business, and labor radicalism have driven him into his cyclone cellar.

For example, the owner of a successful meat market and grocery store in Portland, Oregon, wanted to make $5,000 improvements. Fearing labor troubles, he wouldn't start.

A successful groceryman near Portland recently bought a lot on which to build a store for his business which is in an old rented building. But under present conditions, he said, "Why should I start in the face of the present financial and industrial mess?"

A small business firm in Portland which should re-invest a few thousand dollars, has held off for two months because of uncertainties, and disturbance of security values which has been aggravated by the political drive on business.

Multiply this situation by 10,000 times over the United States, and you get that "general feeling" that no one can laugh off.

Why beat about the bush? Check up on your own feelings, as well as those of your friends, and draw your own conclusions as to what is causing the business slump.

Cause and Cure

B. C. Forbes, noted writer on subjects of economics and finance, hits the nail pretty squarely on the head, we believe, in his recent article on the "Causes and Cure of the Depression."

We possess practically every ingredient essential to prosperity except one, Mr. Forbes says, and that one is confidence. He adds:

"This ingredient can be supplied only by Washington. Out of all these conferences now being held by President Roosevelt with men who have played a constructive part in making America great, it is profoundly to be hoped that good will come, that political backbiting will subside, that cooperation will develop, that re-employment will take the place of expanding unemployment, that good times will very shortly supplant the wholly unnecessary bad times now causing so much suffering to our people and imperiling our national future."

Discussion Blocked

Without going into the practicability of the constitutional amendment provided for in the Ludlow resolution, and leaving aside the merits of the arguments as to whether such an amendment would work as anticipated by its sponsors, it is significant of the strength of the American desire to avoid foreign adventures that consideration of the amendment was stopped by the close vote of 209 to 188. This is an overwhelmingly New Deal Congress, elected by a presidential landslide at a time when Mr. Roosevelt's popularity was at its highest. Yet after the President had written a letter to Congress asking that the resolution be shelved, the vote on reporting it out was decidedly close.

In considering action on the resolution in the House it is to be remembered that the matter under discussion was not the amendment itself but a motion to get the resolution out of committee where it could be debated by the House.

Action taken by the House therefore was not against submitting the constitutional amendment to the voters but against getting the resolution out into the sunlight of publicity where it could be discussed by the representatives of the people. In other words, the vote taken by the House was a vote against discussion of the amendment at all, against considering its good points or its impracticability. If this be democracy, of course, we can make the most of it.

the animal was stuffed. It was the only bear of this species ever seen by a white person, Smith said. Among other trophies was the skin of a 14-foot python, killed by a member of the exploring party.

At the completion of his Hainan island exploration Smith traveled to Yunnan on the Burma-Tibetan border. While there he was the first white man to visit Kocbul, the "mystery city of Asia," in more than 20 years. In Kocbul, Smith said, 25,000 children have been sold into slavery.

In the last ten years Smith has toured unusual out-of-the-way sections of Europe, Asia, America and the South Seas. He has made extensive explorations in the interior of Dutch Guiana.

Family of Women Rules Town in West Virginia

Friendly, W. Va.—Officials of this village on the Ohio river almost due east of Marietta, Ohio, are just one big, happy family—and all are women!

Mrs. Elgie Williamson Rustenmeyer is recorder and related either directly or by marriage to all members of the woman council.

"Councilmen" related by blood are Mrs. Ella Williamson, Mrs. Clara Williamson, Mrs. Maud Livingston, whose mother was a Williamson, and Mrs. Gladys Williamson Knowlton.

Mrs. Mary Bowles, the other member of council, and Mrs. John Cline, the town marshal, are both related to the Williamson family by marriage.

All are descendants of John Thomas Williamson, who first settled here in 1785 after stopping off on his way west to help defend Fort Henry at Wheeling, W. Va., 50 miles north of here.

Mrs. Stella Eddy, the mayor, is practically an outcast. She can claim no relationship either directly or indirectly to the Williamson clan.

Damage by Forest Fires Reduced in U. S. in 1937

Washington.—The 1937 forest fire control season has been one of the most successful ever recorded in the history of the country, Robert Fechner, director of the civilian conservation corps, said.

Fechner said reports indicated the excellent record was due largely to favorable weather conditions, increase in acreage accorded fire protection, a strengthened organized forest protection, greater number of fire towers and the presence of CCC men.

Reports show that during a nine-month period in 1937 there were 767 reported fires, burning 15,132 acres.

compared with only 346 fires, with a total of 1,512 acres burned, during the same period in 1937.

'Honeymoon Mountain'
Praised by Reviewer
in New York Times

New Novel Chosen as Serial for This Newspaper.

"Honeymoon Mountain," the latest novel by Frances Shelley Wees, this paper's newest serial story, brought forth the following comment by the New York Times:

"A determined young lover will find a way, even if it is a very roundabout one. The author has hedged in her young lovers with more obstacles than there were in the rocky mountain roads round the home where pretty Deborah lived in the wilderness of Oregon. The clearing up of her problems makes an appealing romance with a pleasant mixture of the old-fashioned and the ultra modern."

There's a spring-morning freshness to this story that carries you along with a thrilling sense of anticipation. Deborah's mother had made an unhappy marriage and her grandparents, to protect her from a like tragedy, reared her in the absolute seclusion of a mountain estate. At twenty-one, unspoiled and naive, she was to marry a handpicked suitor and then come into her fortune. When the prospective husband proved impossible, Bryn stepped in as a substitute, ostensibly for the $50,000 he was offered. The young man's gallant struggle to win his shy but proud young wife makes a tale you'll long remember.

Frances Shelley Wees is a native of Oregon, the locale of this serial. California and Alberta, Canada, have been her homes since childhood. She is descended, on the maternal side, from Canadians of English extraction. Her father's people are Americans, having begun their westward migration in Revolutionary times.

Though quite a newcomer in the literary world, her rise has been marked with success. Some of her popular novels are "The Mystery of the Creeping Man," "Romance Island," and "The Maestro Murders." Read her latest as it unfolds serially in this paper.

TAKES PICTURES IN LAND OF SAVAGES

Explorer Spends Six Months on Hainan Island.

San Francisco. — Nicol Smith, young San Francisco explorer and adventurer, has returned to his home here from a six-month exploration trip to lonely Hainan island off the southeast coast of China.

Smith brought back hundreds of photographs, botanical specimens and maps of the remote island. He recorded native life on more than 4,000 feet of sound film.

Hainan island is northeast of Indo-China off the southeastern China coast. It is 190 miles long and 95 miles wide. Until Smith's recent explorations in the interior of the island no white man had ever penetrated inland. The island is populated by primitive natives of Malay origin who still hunt with poisoned arrows.

Attacked by Water Buffalo.
Smith had several "close shaves" with death on his latest trip, he said. On one occasion his car was attacked by a huge water buffalo and at another time, he said, an airplane in which he was flying from Hainan to Canton, to get permission to take photographs in the island's interior, was forced to land in the wild-tiger district of Liu Chow in South China, miles from civilization.

In the heart of the wild Hainan country Smith almost died from the effects of a severe sunstroke. On another occasion quick action of a companion saved him from drowning in a swift mountain river.

Smith made the only motion pictures ever taken of the Loi aborigine tribes of Hainan and obtained recordings of their native music. He made the first inland maps for the National Geographic society and obtained botanical specimens for the American Museum of Natural History.

Rare Bear Captured.
A rare Hainan bear, captured by the expedition, died before it could be transported from the interior and

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

Lesson for February 6

CHALLENGING THE SOCIAL ORDER

LESSON TEXT: Mark 2:13-22.
GOLDEN TEXT:—I came not to call the righteous, but sinners.—Mark 2:17.
PRIMARY TOPIC:—When Jesus Had Dinner With Matthew.
JUNIOR TOPIC:—When Jesus Passed By.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC:—Helping by Being Friendly.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC:—Crusading for a Christian Society.

"Crusading for a Christian Society," is one of the topics assigned for consideration today. Everyone who is right thinking would be glad if the social order of which we are all a part might be made Christian, for it is far from it now. But foredoomed to failure are the attempts to Christianize society by some great program of "social regeneration." God's way is to save the individual who makes up the social order. When a man is right with God he will be right with his fellow man.

The Scripture lesson for today is full of outstanding spiritual principles of the greatest practical import to both Christians and the unconverted. It should be studied by the guidance of the Holy Spirit and taught in his power.

I. One Sinner Becomes a Servant (vv. 13, 14).

Capernaum was so situated that it provided an excellent location for the collection of the Roman taxes which the Jews so hated. There at the "receipt of custom" sat a Jew named Levi, who was no doubt despised by his neighbors because he had joined in this distasteful business. To him came the gracious Lord with the invitation, "Follow me." How different would be the history of the cause of Christ on earth if every other man who thus was called had done likewise. To follow the Master means sacrifice and breaking with the old life, but it also means peace and glory.

II. Many Sinners Meet the Lord (v. 15).

Levi, who now becomes Matthew, showed his love for the Lord by desiring that his friends might also meet him. So he prepared a dinner for them in his own house, to which he also invited Jesus.

It is always dangerous for a Christian to maintain social contact with his former companions in sin, if he does so for his own enjoyment or advantage. But to be their friends that one may win them to Christ, that is most desirable.

III. Some Righteous Folk Miss the Lord (vv. 16, 17).

Sin is an unspeakably horrible thing that separates men from God, but it is not an insuperable barrier, for the moment a man confesses his sin and calls on the Saviour he is saved. But self-righteousness—that is the impassable barrier. God can do nothing for the man who rests his hope of salvation on his own good character, high morality, and respectable position in society.

IV. Fasting and Feasting—When and Why (vv. 18-20).

God established one fast day for Israel. They established many, especially the Pharisees. Religion that loses its spiritual life and power clings with tenacity to outward observances and symbols.

Should one never fast? Yes, to the true follower of Jesus there come times when the urgency of soul concerning the problems of one's own life, the lives of others, the needs of the world, shuts the door of interest to anything as ordinary as food for the body.

Feasting and rejoicing—are these spiritual and uplifting? Christianity is a joyful faith. It is not to be hidden in damp, dark cloisters; it thrives in the sunshine, in the happy laughter of a child, in the cheerful shout of the saint. The Church is the Bride of Christ. If the friends of the bridegroom were to rejoice (v. 19), should not the Bride shout for joy?

V. New Things versus Old Things (vv. 21, 22).

The Pharisees wanted the gospel of grace to conform to the narrow channels of their interpretation of the law. Was not the law good? Yes. Jesus said he came not to destroy it, but to fulfill it (Matt. 5:17). He bore the curse of the law that we might be free (Gal. 3:13, 14). But he also brought in the new covenant of assurance and grace.

The mixing of grace and law, or the effort to do so, has continued even to our day. Let us be clear on that point—we are saved by grace, not by the works of the law (Eph. 2:8, 9). We work because we are saved, not in order to be saved.

Prayer

If the eye is fixed on God, thought may roam where it will without irreverence, for every thought is then converted into a prayer.

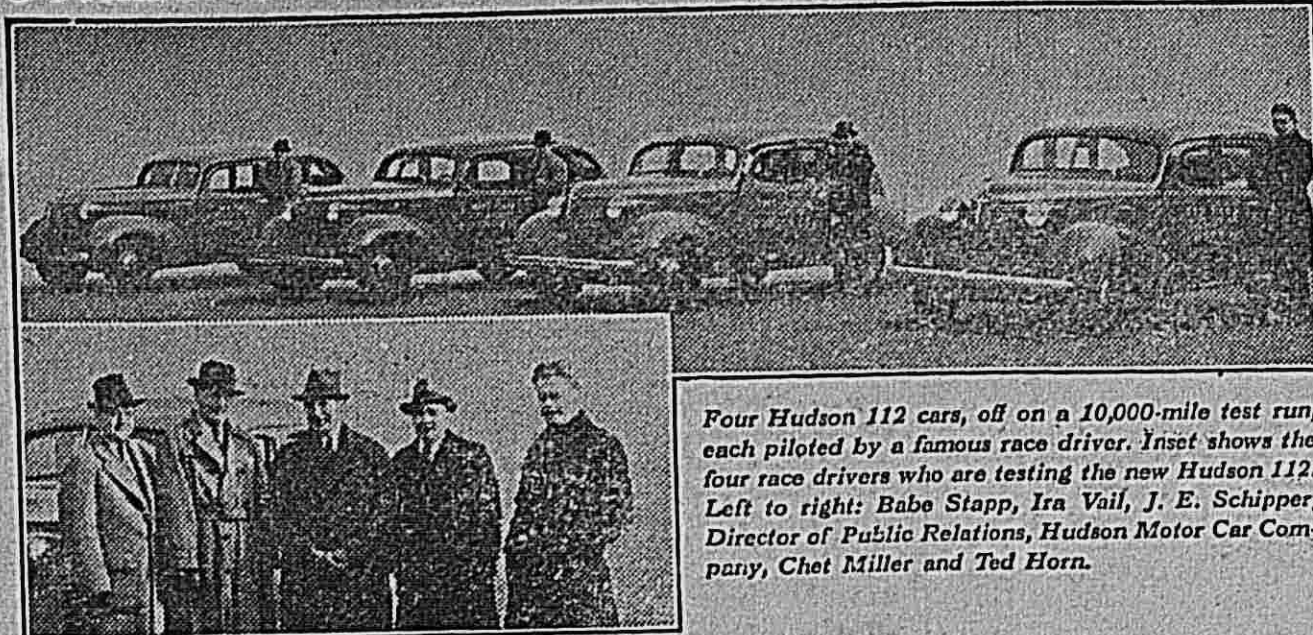

Need Exercising

The only way to restore a weakened will is by exercising itself in details of duty.

Constant Joy

"Rejoice evermore," says the apostle; let your joy be constant and durable.

Prominent Race Drivers Testing New Hudson 112

Four of America's leading race drivers, Babe Stapp, Ted Horn, Chet Miller and Ira Vail are out on individual 10,000 mile test runs with the new Hudson 112, the latest entry in the lowest price field. These drivers are putting the four cars through their paces in widely scattered parts of the country so that all climatic and road conditions will be encountered. The cars and their famous drivers have now been on the road since January 11.

Babe Stapp, well-known California driver who has been up in the money consistently at Indianapolis, took off immediately for his home state. He arrived in Los Angeles in four days, with runs of over 900 miles per day. He is now running up and down the Pacific coast with a mixture of mountain and desert running which gives a wide range of temperature and road conditions. Owing to the nature of the country, Stapp can put an infinite variety of experience into his daily reports to the Hudson factory.

Ted Horn, who ranks second in the AAA Contest Board Championship standing this year and who was third at Indianapolis in the last race, is now on his way back from Austin, Texas via Waco, Dallas, Wichita and Des Moines. He will be in Detroit this week and then off on another lap.

Chet Miller who is also a consistent "money man", in the big AAA race, is completing a lap which took him through Tennessee, Alabama and Florida, down the West coast and up the East, touching at Tampa and over the Tami trail to Miami. His route lay through the Big Smokey mountains.

Ira Vail whom all know as one of the real old-timers of racing fame has had the "snow and ice assignment." He has been through the mountains of Pennsylvania and New York State. When he completes his first lap this week-end he will be sent on a milder assignment while one of the other drivers will tackle the snow belt.

Careful reports of gasoline mileage, oil consumption and other data are being compiled to give the Hudson company first hand information on the performance of these cars. About 20,000 miles of hard running under all sorts of conditions have already been completed with all four drivers highly pleased at the results, without a single stop for repairs, and without any water added to a radiator since the start.

TREVOR

Gerald Runyard who is taking the agricultural course at Madison, is spending this week with the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elfers attended a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. John Kirk at the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kirk, Kenosha, on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. John Kirk are moving to a farm near Fox Lake, Ill.

Mrs. Lucy Himens, near Antioch, called at the William Evans home Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Sheen, Camp Lake, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Sheen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Longman.

Hiram Patrick, daughter, Mrs. William Kruckman and son, Jim, Burlington, spent Saturday afternoon with the Patrick sisters.

Clarence Runyard spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Nell Runyard, and brothers, Wilson, Gerald and Stanley.

Nick Schumacher, Brass Ball, called on his mother, Mrs. Ottila Schumacher, Wednesday.

Mrs. William Boersma, Jr., entertained her card club of three tables last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Chas. Oetting entertained the club this week Wednesday.

Several from Trevor attended the card and bunco party at the Lutheran hall, Wilmet, on Thursday afternoon.

Ed Burns and Henry Schumacher made a business trip to the northern part of the state the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waters motored to Waukegan Wednesday to visit their daughter, Irene Waters, who is ill at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mutz attended the Lake Shore Saddle and Bridle association dancing party at the Simmons club house, Kenosha, Wednesday evening.

American Citizens

Children born in this country are American citizens regardless of the nationality of their parents, and those born in foreign countries are American citizens if parents are American Citizens.

Ships of Stone

At Oland, an island off the coast of Sweden, may be seen prehistoric Stone age remains. They are huge rocks carved in the form of Viking ships, replete with benches for the rowers.

Long-Distance Race Unsuccessful
The first long-distance automobile race, New York city to Buffalo, 500 miles, was run in 1901. Of eighty cars entered, forty-two reached Rochester, where the tour was abandoned.

Don't Shoot! It's Barnegat Pete

Barnegat Pete, a deer adopted by Barnegat, N. J., after it escaped a forest fire three years ago, is dressed in a red checked coat and red and white catanin necklace so that he will not be shot during the hunting season. The necklace holds a plaque on which is engraved, "This is Barnegat Pete—Barnegat, N. J., children's pet—Don't shoot!" Pete, of course, has the freedom of the village and here a state trooper holds up traffic to give the pet right of way.

SUEDE COLORS NOW DOMINATE FASHION

Inspiration Comes From Far Lands and Outdoors.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Suede color inspiration comes from all sorts of places these days, including far-away lands, the great outdoors and even the goodies we like to eat.

From far-away Egypt comes a luscious rust lawrosuede color termed Egyptian clay. Interest in plays and books dealing with Civil war times prompts a bright blue suede called Yankee blue and a vivid red termed cavalry red.

From the great out-of-doors come such suede tones as harvest rust, gooseberry green, wineberry, gold nugget, and chestnut brown. Other vibrant lawrosuede colors include nutmeg tan, black hawk, greyhound, buck and hockey green.

These spirited suede colors are being used in every channel of fashion. Suede is winter's story from head to toe. Suede shoes, handbags and hats have a major rating. Entire blouses are made of this soft leather and even dresses are being fashioned of suede these days. Suede coats and suits are in the picture. Suede has allied itself with wool, tweed and knitwear.

The cold weather coats and suits and indoor dresses go in for this suede partnership. The pockets and collar of a smart tan tweed suit are of harvest rust suede. Jet black suede panels from top to bottom grace one of winter's smartest black coats.

This suede addition has given new pep to knitted garments. Fronts and backs of knitted dresses are of suede. Collars, yokes and panels of knitted frocks are in a contrasting or matching color of suede. Even entire sleeves are of suede. And for glamorous evenings a yankee blue suede bolero is the companion of a pencil-slim black dinner dress.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 30.

The Golden Text was, "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel: be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of Jerusalem. The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty: he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" (Zephaniah 3:14, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "People go into ecstasies over the sense of a corporeal Jehovah, though with secretly a stark of love in their hearts; yet God is Love, and with out Love God immortality cannot appear. Mortals believe in a finite personal God; while God is infinite Love, which must be unlimited" (p. 312).

Rain! Ice! Snow! Zero! Why fret? They come to church anyway. A very appreciative audience braved the hostile weather last Sunday morning indicating a sincere and deepening interest in the nobler things of life. Disbased on Deut. 33:25, it was observed that it is God's plan that man shall be more than equal to his largest circumstances, his greatest opportunity, and his most exacting task. In Mighty Days, difficult days, we discover the unknown power of God and the latent powers of ourselves.

Mrs. R. H. Childers is the newly elected Superintendent of our Sunday School. Her first task is the coordination of the various departments of the Sunday School, and the development of the Senior-Adult department. It is no small task, neither is it impossible. We still need more Sunday School workers. If there are those who can and are willing, we will appreciate it if they will make it known.

At seven o'clock, Tuesday evening, Feb. 8, there will be a social at the church. All members and friends of the church are heartily invited. Entertainment will be provided by the pastor and his wife. A pot luck dinner will be served during the lunch period. COME.

No Bats in the Hair
The bat does not tangle itself in people's hair. This seldom happens and when it does, it is merely the result of its low flight. Bats are not blind as is often intimated by the expression "blind as a bat."

Flair for Chiffon Dance

Frocks Feature of Season
The unexpected always happens. This time it is an insistent call for party frocks that are made of yards and yard upon yard of fluttering airy-fairy chiffon. The filmy folds swing into the very poetry of motion while sequin and rhinestone accents glitter entrancingly to the tune of the dance.

Fireworks Sequins
The red and blue and green sequins that flash their brilliant color so dazzlingly as they cluster designfully on this season's little jackets and especially as trimming on black backgrounds are appropriately called fireworks sequins.

Seal From Land Animal
The seal seems to have descended from some form of land animal, since the bones in their legs and flappers match the bones in the legs and feet of land carnivora. The typical five toes of the land type show in the toenails or claws of the seal's flippers. The seal's back flippers are his propellers, and the front serve merely as balancers and rudders.

By L. L. STEVENSON

New York of another day was recalled by the retirement of George A. Robb, a motorman on the Sixth avenue elevated. Jay Gould was president of the road when he was hired away back in 1885. In those days, the motive power for trains was not electricity but steam engines. Usually anthracite was burned. But when strikes shut off the supply, soft coal was substituted. That made smoke. Housewives of Harlem, which wasn't a colored section then, angry because their washings were soiled, threw bricks at the trainmen. Also in those days, on Sundays, a special car was attached to trains. This was for the benefit of bicyclists who wanted to go to Bronx park or Moshulu for exercise far from the throngs of the city. The wheels, as they were called in the gay nineties, were carried in the special car and Robb says that some of the old racks are still in existence.

Robb spent 52 of his 73 years running up and down Sixth avenue. In all that time, he never was late to work once. In all that time, he did not take so much as one drink—a fact which may have some bearing on his punctuality record. He started as a wiper, became a fireman and then an engineer. When the line was about to be electrified in 1903, he availed himself of the opportunity to learn to operate electric trains, qualified and swapped the throttle for a control handle. His various trips averaged 100 miles a day. Up until 20 years ago, when trainmen went on a six-day week, he made those 100 miles seven days a week. No vacations were granted, but once a year he took a week off on his own time. So despite the fact that his trips were only from the Battery to up into the Bronx, he has covered quite a string of miles.

Now that he has a chance to think back to the time when there were no block signals and when the keenness of the engineer's vision was a bigger safety factor than it is now, Robb is not quite sure what he will do. One thing is certain, however. He won't spend his time riding up and down Sixth avenue and visiting with former fellow workmen. As a matter of fact, should he desire to do so, he wouldn't have the chance for a great while longer. When the Sixth avenue subway, now being dug, is completed, the Sixth avenue elevated will come down.

Just learned why Phil Baker's accordion has a keyboard just the reverse of conventional practice. It seems that back in pre-war days, in Philadelphia, the youthful Baker bought himself a pleated piano with a left-handed keyboard. Having learned to play on that, he is no good with the regular kind. His present instrument, built to his order, cost him $1,200. It is insured for $2,000, part of the indemnity being to cover loss should it be necessary to replace the accordion. There are none like it on the market and to make one, a master craftsman would have to work several weeks.

Before Spencer Bentley went into the show business, he was an assistant purser employed by one of the large steamship lines. The other day he received a call to report for duty as purser on one of the ships of the line. When he quit seafaring, he forgot to have his name removed from the active list.

On Broadway, the other afternoon, I encountered, swinging along with great, strong strides, an officer of the Scottish guard attired in his uniform including kilts, of course, sporran, jaunty feathered cap and long, flowing cape. Completely unmindful of the stares of the curious, including myself, he stopped now and then to peer earnestly into a shop window. And at any moment, I expected the bagpipes to start their skirling.

Subway eavesdropping: "His face was as red as if he'd dropped a couple of crap dice in the collection plate."

American Men Are Buying More Clothes

New York. — Style-conscious Mr. America has increased his clothes budget to almost double the figure it reached even in the boom year of 1929.

A survey of sales figures for the first ten months of 1937 by the Merchant Tailors Designers association, national organization of custom tailors, shows that the average American man of the business executive or professional type patronizing his local tailor, has ordered from one to three more suits in 1937 than he did in 1929, and has spent from three hundred to five hundred dollars more in the process.

SEQUIN-TRIMMED

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There is no limit to what our style creators are doing with sequins in the current mode. Time was when glittering spangles were used sparingly and then only for glamorous occasion. However, contemporary designers are thinking in entirely different terms, in fact have thrown all caution to the wind and its theirs "to do and to dare" most amazing things with bright and shining decorations, not the least significant being the lavishing of dazzling sequin trimming on daytime wool or silk crepe dresses. See the cocktail or informal dinner dress pictured. It is of fine black crepe fashioned with the new molded glove-fitting lines with black sequin trim done in accordance with latest style dictates.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Quilted scroll work trims new pastel woollens.

Large shirred and tucked handbags will be carried.

Red hair is new enthusiasm and curls sweep upward.

Jewelry favors massive design, especially wide bracelets.

Embroidered suede gloves are worn both long and short.

Watteau pleats and sailor collars are new styling features.

Bowl-shaped brims are notable trend in hats, many tassel trimmed.

Fox tails were once carried and used as handkerchiefs.

Unmarried Women Have Hardest Jobs, Says Marjorie Hillis

But Vera Connolly Says "No" in a Debate that Started in Editorial Staff Word-battle

"I take my hat off to single women," writes Marjorie Hillis in this month's Woman's Day magazine. "No," answers Vera Connolly in the same issue, "the married woman has the harder job."

It all started in the editorial staff rooms a month ago. Exactly, one-half of the women on the magazine's staff are married—the other half single. Words began to fly, at first good-natured jibes, but soon heated arguments.

"We'll settle it in public," said Mrs. Haydie Yates. She promptly engaged Marjorie Hillis, of "Live Alone and Like It" fame, and Vera Connolly, long champion of the married woman, to represent the two sides—on two facing pages of the February issue.

Speed of the Wheel

The top of a wheel rolling over the ground moves faster than the bottom of it, in relation to the ground. With respect to the center of the wheel, all parts rotate at the same rate. A simple demonstration can be made with a coin rolled a quarter of a revolution on paper. It will be found that the point at the top has rolled along the paper several times as far as the point at the bottom.

Popcorn, American Crop

Popcorn is a peculiarly American crop. In early Spanish writings reference is made to a ritual of the Aztecs in which "one hour before dawn, there sallied forth all these maidens, toasted and popped, the grains of which resembled orange blossoms, and looped on their necks thick festoons of the same which passed under the left arm."

Plant Zones by Altitude

In the Grand Canyon of Arizona four distinct climatic and plant zones have been produced by the extreme variations in altitude from the canyon floor to the north rim.

After a riotous Friday evening tilt against Warren's marauding Blue Devils, the Northwest conference status of Grant's Red and White Raiders has been greatly altered. The heavyweight team has been relegated to the role of a second division squad because of their 36-23 bombing, while the surprising lightweight squad towards the conference leadership with a 23-20 triumph over an impotent Warren secondary aggregation.

While Grant and Warren blazed the sky with a fireworks exhibition at Fox Lake, similar performances were being written into the conference archives as result of other loop affairs. Ela extended its unbeaten conference string to seven in winning a none too impressive tilt against faltering Bensenville. Aside from Palatine's decisive victory performance over Arlington Heights, the league sphere completed another revolution without excessive damage and upsets.

Palatine, whose Northwest conference standing is 5 wins and 3 losses, will invade the Grant court this Friday evening. This game will give local fans an opportunity to witness the Red and White quintet in action against high-scoring Palatine, one of the most feared aggregations in the entire circuit. Although Palatine's chances of tying Ela for the mythical conference championship are slim, the Palatine five has an excellent chance to cop second money.

Senior English students will have nothing but speech training and platform deportment this entire second semester. Many of the seniors have not made their three minute speech debut as yet, those that have nearly had external convulsions before they delivered their orations. Fright and inexperience contributed largely to this, however.

Roger Thill, University of Illinois freshman and a basketball candidate for Antioch high school's mythical hall of fame, will visit his mother, Mrs. Bernice Thill, at the Allendale Farm the latter part of this week. Any Antioch fan desirous of seeing the former Sequoit cage star will find him at his mother's residence.

Allendale's gymnasium is becoming a rendezvous for Grant high cage performers over the week-ends. George Jaques, Marty McManus, et al, are frequent visitors and their sparkling performances give the little boys quite a thrill.

Twelve high school students have entered the Fox Lake Lions Club skating derby, according to John Hodge, custodian of affairs. He wonders if this is ample representation from that institution. The meet, which is drawing entrants from the surrounding territory, will be held on February 9th.

Queen Victoria did more to make England democratic than any other ruler. She was so sensible and so kind that nearly all English colonies and possessions co-operated with her and the empire became cemented.

Call of the Quail
Sylvester D. Judd in "The Bob-white and Other Quails of the United States," says that the call "bob-white" is the nuptial call; the male uses many other calls, imitating other birds and animals. This call is not generally used after the breeding season. The answer of the female is a single clear whistle.

"Death Chamber"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

You see a lot of talk in the papers about the "death chambers" that certain states are using to execute their condemned criminals. You sort of gather the idea that those chambers are something relatively new. Well, it's true that it's a new thing to put a man into one of those things deliberately, with intent to kill. But as far as accidental death is concerned, there have been "death chambers" of one kind and another since primitive man first began digging holes in the ground.

Today, if you travel along the concrete road leading from Snyder'sville to Bartonville, Pa., you can still see the crumbling walls and rotting ruins of an old mill—a sawmill that was once operated by water power.

That mill will never do any more sawing now. But in 1895 it was still in operation. And there, in that same year, on a June day, the events that constitute our adventure story took place in a death chamber thirty feet under ground.

Frank G. Kirkham of New York City is the lad who is telling us this yarn. It was Frank's grandfather, Joe Fetherman, who owned that sawmill back in 1895. Frank lived there when he was a kid—he and his brother, Ralph, his mother and dad.

The Turbine Was in a Large Penstock.

Frank can still remember the details of how that old mill was operated. In fact, there are a couple of those details he will never be able to forget. A lot of those old mills had water wheels, but this one used a turbine to turn the racing waters into a power that operated the machinery. The turbine was in a large chamber called the penstock, thirty feet or so under ground. A shaft ran upward from the turbine to the millrace, which operated the mill. Water came down to the turbine through a millrace, a flume, and, lastly, through a huge pipe that sloped down to the penstock at an angle of about forty-five degrees.

One June day the mill stopped working. A stick, floating down the millrace, had got into the turbine and jammed it. Granddad Fetherman prepared to fix matters up. He made a dam of boards to close up the millrace and keep the water from getting down into the penstock. When the penstock was empty he got ready to go down inside it.

Frank and his brother, Ralph, wanted to go along, and granddad said, "All right. Come ahead." The penstock was under ground, and the only way to reach the big chamber where the turbine lay was through the big pipe from which the water came from the millrace. With the millrace dammed up, that pipe was empty now, and Joe Fetherman and the two kids crawled down through it.

Time to Get Out, Thought Granddad.

They reached the penstock and Joe Fetherman found the stick that was clogging the machinery. He grabbed hold of it and gave it a yank, but it was caught fast and he couldn't budge it. He'd have to turn the turbine wheel to release it, and that could only be done from up above. He told young Ralph to go back up through the pipe and give the gate wheel a turn so he could get that stick out.

Ralph went up the big pipe. He was gone quite a while—long enough to have turned that wheel which would move the turbine—but still he hadn't done it. Granddad began to get impatient, and then, suddenly, he had a queer hunch—a hunch that he knew what was wrong. He caught hold of Frank, saying, "Come on—let's get out of here!" And his voice was so gruff and strange that Frank was frightened.

They started up the pipe—but they had gone only a few feet when a sudden rush of water, roaring down that shaft, swept them off their feet and back into the penstock. The penstock began to fill with water. There was no way out. Granddad's hunch had been right. Young Ralph had misunderstood his instructions. Instead of turning the gate wheel, he had pulled out the boards and opened the gate from the race which let in the water!

It didn't take half a minute for that penstock to fill. Rushing water had turned it into a death chamber thirty feet under ground. The flood was within a foot of the top now, and still it was rushing in. The flood

In a hoarse voice, Joe Fetherman said, "I guess it's all over," and he picked young Frank up and held him up against the top of the penstock. For a pitiful few seconds he could save the kid's life. Then the water would be up to the top and they would both drown.

Frank's Father to the Rescue.

And then, all of a sudden, the water began rushing in with less violence. Presently, it stopped coming in. They heard the gates of the water wheel open, and water began running out through the turbine. They waited until the water was down below the level of the pipe, and then began crawling up. When they got to the top, they found the mouth of the pipe barricaded with boards, but presently Frank heard his dad shouting to them and ripping away the boards. They came out into the flume and clambered up on dry ground again.

Frank's dad had saved the day. Young Ralph had opened the gate at the upper end of the millrace, and then ran down ahead of the rushing water so he could watch it leap into the flume. Frank's dad had come out just then. He saw the rushing water and knew that Joe Fetherman had gone down into the penstock. The situation dawned on him, and seizing some boards, he had thrown them over the mouth of the pipe. Then, working furiously, he had opened the wheel gate to let the water out through the turbine, and ran back to the upper end of the race to shut the water off there.

So if you try to tell Frank that "death chambers" are something new, he'll laugh at you. More than forty years ago he almost died in one—like a rat in a trap.

Historic French Fountain

A historic French fountain, centuries old, which once bubbled with Norman cider on festival days, is in the city of Rouen. Rouen possesses eighty-seven fountains, which is believed to be a record for France, but the most famous was La Fontaine du Gros-Horloge, or the Fountain of the Big Clock. Its last restoration dates back to 1732 by Jean-Pierre de France, an architect engaged by the Duke of Normandy.

First Use of "El Dorado"

The word "El Dorado," meaning "the gilded one," was first applied to a South American tribal king or priest, said to cover himself with gold dust at an annual religious festival.

Prison Wardens Lived on Fees

In Eighteenth-century England, prison wardens and guards, being unsalaried, were obliged to live on the fees and fines they imposed on the inmates. Largest and most imperative was the "delivery fee," demanded on release. One paid—or stayed. Persons found not guilty by court trial and even those who were never tried for lack of evidence were likewise held, says Collier's Weekly, sometimes for months until they could make this payment.

Upper Room

Tuesday, February 1, we had movies. The main picture was entitled "Glimpses of Our National Parks." We had a candy sale just before the movies.

Monday, January 31, the boys played basketball with Grayslake. They also have another game with Antioch on Wednesday, February 2 in the evening.

Monday, Mr. Dixon's room had a debate. The question was taken out of some questions of their health book. The question was on the subject of whether it took more courage to go to war, or to give your life for medical science.

Ervin Barnstable, Raymond Bartlett, and Lillian Kelly were absent Monday.

Robert Hodgkins, John Meyer and Leo Buchta made three very interesting pictures on the easel. Leo is making another one.

Mr. Dixon told the room about court. Then the upper grades had a court which proved very interesting. We all gained some knowledge through it.

Intermediate Room

The Intermediate room has a "Believe It or Not" book. Bobby Klein is in charge of it.

Marilyn Tiede visited her aunt in Chicago Friday, January 28.

Junior Peterson, Louis Kratz and Bob White visited our room Friday.

Lois Parsons was absent Monday. Each student receives a gold star if his department has been commendable. Each perfect reader also receives a star.

Marjorie Peterson is hostess this week.

The third and fourth grades are preparing interesting scrap books for Science. We also have started Art books. The poem books are progressing rapidly.

Ralph Nader fell on the ice, thereby cutting his chin. He had three stitches taken.

Primary Room

Marlene Nader went to Waukegan to see "Rosalie."

The children in Miss Falch's room are painting pictures with their new paints. "And is it fun," say Susie and Kenzie who are now working on their new pictures.

Kathleen and John are back with us again.

Barbara Tiede spent Friday in Chicago.

Ronald Sonnenberg spent the weekend with his mother in Aurora.

Bruce's mother visited with him Saturday and took him to Waukegan to the show.

REIMS CATHEDRAL'S WAR WOUNDS HEALED

Great Edifice Badly Damaged by Fire and Cannon.

Washington, D. C. — Reims (Rhems) cathedral, badly damaged by fire and bombardment during the World war, at last has been restored to the magnificence of the days when it served as coronation church of French kings.

"For nearly two decades this cherished French shrine has been closed to the public while architects, financed chiefly by the French government and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., repaired war damage," says the National Geographic society. "In 1927 a rededication ceremony marked partial reconstruction of the edifice. Now, after an impressive service, the restored cathedral has been reopened for worship."

"During September, 1914, when the Germans seized Reims, they covered the floor of the cathedral's vast nave with straw, prior to quartering soldiers there. After the Germans withdrew from the town, the French converted the church into a hospital for French and German wounded. Nevertheless the Germans used the high towers as targets, claiming they sheltered military observation posts. Fire completely destroyed the roof, descended wooden scaffolding on a tower to the nave, set the straw on fire, and practically gutted the building."

Bombed and Shelled.
"From time to time, for the remainder of the war, airplane bombs and shells from long-range guns struck the cathedral. Buttresses and chapels were damaged. Only the massive strength of the thick walls saved the interior from utter destruction. Strangely, the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, close by, remained uninjured in the midst of falling shells, and many considered this a good omen."

"Shells that broke pinnacles and disfigured statues also shattered priceless Thirteenth-century stained-glass windows. Drawings of these windows fortunately had been preserved, and some of the windows have been reconstructed in their original forms. Others have been fitted with temporary colorless glass awaiting replacement by the stained glass of future artists."

"An entire new roof has been constructed. Walls, pinnacles, and buttresses have been skillfully mended. Tapestries and works of art carried off to safety during the war have been returned to their places. Several statues purposely have been left mutilated as reminders of the bombardment."

"From 1180 until 1824, Reims was the favorite coronation place of French kings. Most notable crowning was that of Charles VII in 1429, attended by Joan of Arc. Westminster abbey, England's great coronation church, was largely patterned after this cathedral."

Deemed a Masterpiece.
"Reims is considered a masterpiece of Gothic architecture. Built on the site of a previous church, it was completed in the Thirteenth century, with the exception of its twin-towered western facade, finished about 100 years later. This facade is noted for its wealth of sculpture. Above the three deeply-recessed portals are more than 500 statues, ranged row upon row. These served as 'picture-books' for teaching Biblical history to medieval worshippers who could neither read nor write."

"The pointed central portal leads the eye to the magnificent rose window above it, nearly 40 feet in diameter. Still higher one sees a row of statues of French kings, each nearly ten feet tall. From them, the eye travels up to the two flat-topped square towers. These were originally surmounted by spires but, destroyed by fire in 1481, they were never replaced."

"The towers overlook the town of Reims, about 100 miles northeast of Paris in the champagne district. From surrounding vine-clad hills comes wine to be stored in the city's miles of wine cellars. During the war, when continual heavy bombardment practically wiped out the city, forcing 100,000 citizens to leave, 17,000 remained and used these wine cellars as dormitories, courts, offices, and even schools which gave examinations and prizes. Today, rebuilt Reims is almost back to pre-war population and is again busy making champagne."

Eight Hats of Napoleon

Are Still in Existence

Paris.—The sale at auction of a hat worn by the Emperor Napoleon has opened an inquiry which established the fact that eight such hats are now in existence.

Three of these are in the Invalides museum in Paris, one is at the Fontainebleau museum, one is owned by Prince Napoleon, the Bonapartist pretender in Brussels; another is in the private collection of M. Pauliac, the seventh is owned by the Prince of Monaco and the eighth is the one recently sold at auction for $1,000.

All of the relics are well-authenticated with documents, and that of the Prince of Monaco is valued at $2,000.

Lake Villa School Notes

(written for last week)
Upper Room

Last Friday we had a game of scrambled words and we had our usual current events, after which we had book reports.

Saturday the boys played a basketball game at Gurnee and lost. During the game "Butch" dribbled the ball in the wrong direction. After the game the Boy Scouts went swimming at the Y. M. C. A. pool in Waukegan. They had a very nice time. On the way home they stopped at Pop Larson's Frozen Palace and had lunch.

Mr. Dixon started reading the book, "White Fang," to the students.

Phyllis Helm and John Christiansen are absent from school today (Monday), John because of the heavy rainfall, and Phyllis because of a cold.

The Upper Grade room was planning a sleighing party, but the weather is rather undecided lately, so we will have to wait to see if it will be a sleighing party or a wading party. We are playing checkers to pass the time away until the weather is more suitable for playing.

Wednesday we tried out a new experiment. We tried to see how fast water evaporates. We put the same amount of water into each of a saucer, a beaker and a measuring tube. The water in the saucer is gone and there is just a little left in the other two.

Intermediate Room

Those absent for one-half day last week were Lois Parsons and Marjory Petersen.

We have started a Valentine contest—the one submitting the best valentine will receive a dime.

We helped our teacher celebrate her birthday Monday. Each in our room received a piece of cake.

Host for the week is Bobby Klein.

Primary Room

Jeanette and Rose Mary are very happy to be back with us again and we are just as happy to have them back. We haven't had them with us since Thanksgiving. Several others are back that have been out with colds.

The children surely enjoy the work Dorothy prepares for them. It is very interesting seat work material, calendars for the months, Arithmetic, reading. This week they have enjoyed making polar bears and Eskimos.

Estelle and Buddy Neumann are still absent, but we hope they can be with us soon.

Most Happily Solve Dress-to-Occasion Problem.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS
In the costumes that feature "above-the-table" effects the dress-to-occasion problem is being most happily solved. Designers sensing the need for outfits that look de-mure enough on the street yet are capable of being transformed into dressier indoor occasions are answering this call of the mode by creating gowns that have glamorous top treatments.

You can wear these under your coat or give them the suit aspect with a handsomely furled or tailored matching jacket. There is no limit to the novel glamorous effects that may be achieved with glittering blouse tops that are attached to high-girdled skirts, and the idea is being played up for all it is worth. This brings into the limelight all sorts of elaborate embroidering, applique designs and sequin embellishment.

Then, too, there are yoke effects together with ornate sleeves for the making of which designers use contrasting materials or handsome lace or sheer nets. In fact you can simply let fancy run riot in evolving these flattering "above-the-table" dresses.

Frequently it is the dramatic blouse worn with a sedate skirt of cloth, silk crepe or velvet that turns the trick. This is especially true of the gorgeous metallic-weave blouses which are so decidedly in the style picture for winter.

The theory of the top-treatment dress is proving as workable for evening clothes as it is for daytime outfits. You will see many elegant velvet dresses with floor length hemline topped with yokes and over-the-shoulder effects that dramatize the entire costume.

SHEER BLACK WOOL

Sheer black wool is draped with distinction in this slender-line frock designed for afternoon and town wear. Self applique band detail outlines the shoulders and runs down the sleeves to the fitted wrists and the same treatment finishes the hemline of the smoothly flared skirt. Narrow curved metal bands at the self-fabric belt front are the only contrast notes. The sentiment in favor of wool fabric is increasing by leaps and bounds. Especially now that modern wools are so delicately sheer. Then, too, they have the advantage of looking well-groomed since they do not crease or wrinkle easily. For a genteel afternoon frock the new sheer wools are ideal, especially so for the black foundation dresses which fashion advocates with such enthusiasm this year.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Fashions reflect Mexican color influence.

Midseason showings stress many purple and grape tones.

Designers employ many pleatings and pin-tuckings.

Emphasis is on stripes in luxury fabrics, especially metal weaves.

Veils with topknot of flower or feather is latest evening head-dress.

Vast use of jeweled belts, huge clips and striking large pendants noted.

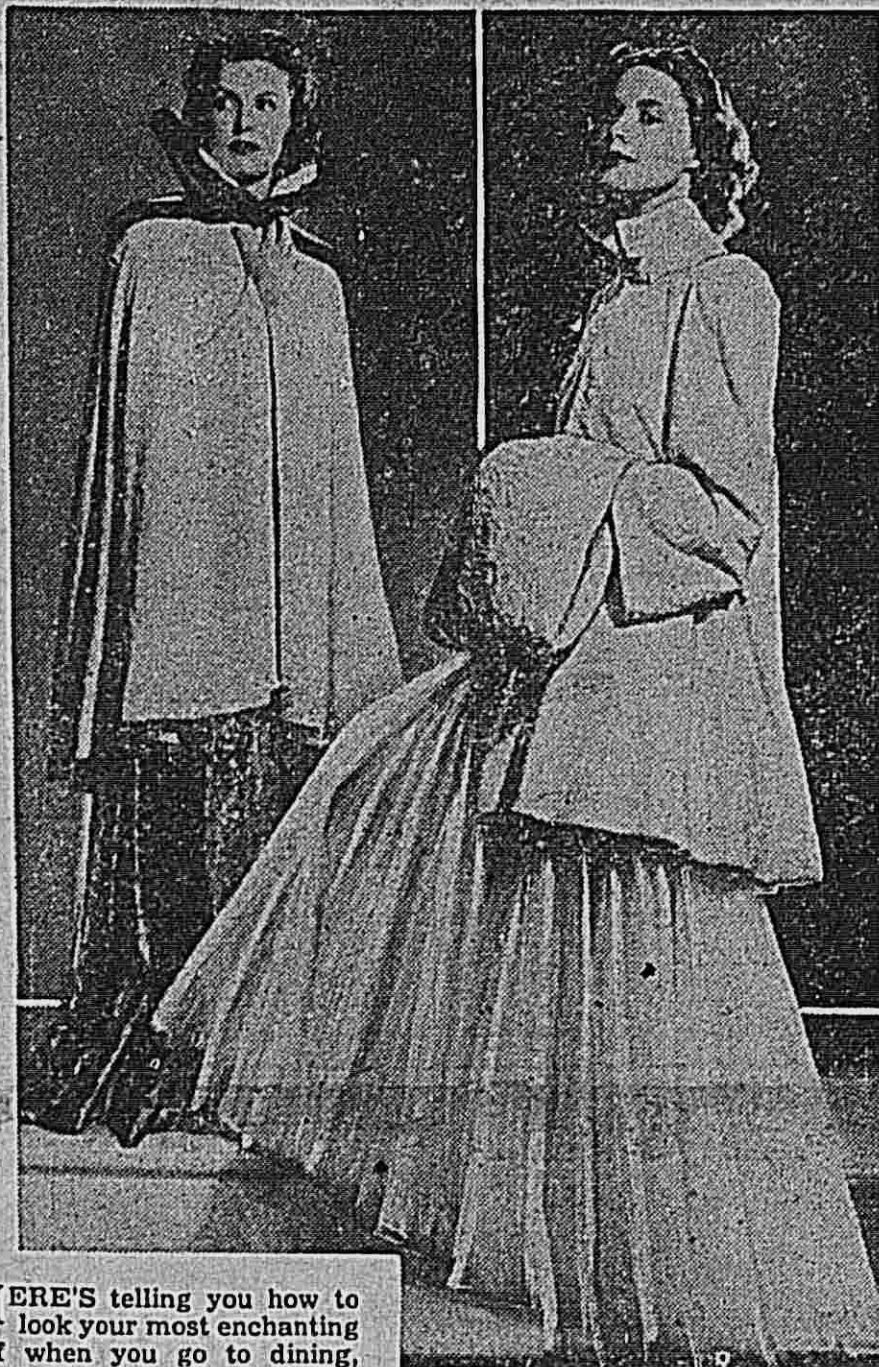

Snow white point venise lace boleros are worn with black crepe or velvet dinner gowns.

Dirndl Type Frock

Any woman who has made up her mind that the dirndl type of frock has passed out of the fashion picture will have to change her mind after seeing the winter resort collections.

All-White Wrap Is Chic This Winter

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

HERE'S telling you how to look your most enchanting self when you go to dining, dancing and making merry during the winter social swirl. Told in fashion's own language the message is to wear flattering white—your gown, your wrap, your corsage, all-white. White flower head-dress, too!

The ingenue's choice is for full-skirt romantic entrancing creations made of frothy, frothy diaphanous whites that dazzle with glittering, glistening sequin, crystal and rhinestone accents. If you happen to be of the stately, statuesque type rather than the airy-fairy sort you'll be voted the belle of the ball clad in a glovefitting skilfully draped low decollete gown made of heavy white crepe which makes trimming conspicuous by its utter absence save for a chaste corsage of waxen-white camellias or gardenias or white orchids if you will have it so.

White wraps to wear over these beguiling frocks are so smartly in fashion they are literally taking the world by storm this season. They may be of cloth or velvet (often luxuriously furled with white fox) to ensemble with the gowns they top or they may be of snowy fur, preferably ermine, for ermine is notably in the lead whether it be for jacket, medium-length coat or floor-length wrap, or bolero fantasies.

Then, too, there is the new-this-season erminecrush that makes up exquisitely into wraps such as pictured herewith. An ensemble of coat and muff made of snowy erminecrush as shown is adorable for the girl who is invited to parties galore. Under it the young lady wears one of the new tulle frocks with voluminous skirt and expertly fitted bodice that is so quaint and so chic all in one.

Yes—indeed, this winsome muff and wrap set is one any stylish-minded woman would love to own. Well, why not even if you happen to be one among those to whom evening elegance at little cost is a problem to be met. Listen close, while we whisper a secret idea we feel the urge to pass on to you. If you needs must keep within a limited budget why not buy a few yards of white erminecrush and "make your own" little cushion muff and swank coat?

We might say that if you would be intrigued with the thought of a little bolero, muff and hat set, patterns are easily available and such a trio made of erminecrush would carry you through a winter with unmistakable style distinction and allure. An all-white cape is also a possession to be coveted. See the one in the picture. The lavishness of the velvety weave has been added unto by the trim of sable-dyed kolinsky. You would not necessarily have to keep your white cape or coat for formal for the beauty about erminecrush is it is really quite practical. Cruising in tropical waters or vacationing up North, attending opera and making the rounds of teas and musicales, it is an ideal choice because it can be packed without fear of wrinkling since erminecrush naturally has a soft snowy white deeply crushed pile.

BLACK IS FAVORED FOR DAYTIME WEAR

Black worn with white and light colors is Bruyere's choice for smart daytime clothes in the mid-season collection. Light wool costumes in black with white satin blouses are a highlight of the showing, and rhinestone clips are the leading trim.

A black two-piece daytime ensemble is made in lightweight wool with straight-cut skirt and waist-length jacket of bloused design, fitted to a snug wide belt. With the costume is worn a lustrous white satin blouse, with long, fitted sleeves. The bodice is draped from center of the waistline, where it is fastened with a vine grosgrain ribbon which forms a corselet belt, dropped lower at the back. The suit jacket, opened to the waistline, is trimmed with a pair of rhinestone clips at the neck.

Sumptuously Furred Tweed Suits Are High in Favor

An increasing interest in suits made of striking tweed is noted. These are not just tweed in the ordinary sense of the word, but they are sumptuous affairs of gorgeous tweed that "gets you" because of the grand and glorious coloring and the fascinating nubby knotty textures. The opulent furs that trim these elegant suits are a fitting tribute to the tweed itself. These colorful tweed outfits give an excellent opportunity to vary the all-black vogue that has persisted for so long a time.

Covert Slacks.

Wool covert cloth, long a favorite for topcoats, is being used for slacks by well-dressed undergrads at several leading Eastern universities.

Elegance of Brocade Is Featured in New Styles

Rich handsome brocade has come into its own. It is not only that beautiful brocades of modern production are being used in costume design but treasured pieces from Far East sources are being made into handbags or worked into vests, waistcoats and likewise smart little hats. The use of upholstery fabrics is growing so much so that drapery houses are now catering to the demand for brocades, also upholstery moires and satins for the making of handsome evening coats, hostess gowns, waistcoats, turban drapes, evening bags or what you will.

STYLE NOTES

Black for lingerie is smart. Mid-season suits are sumptuously furred.

Dramatize your costume with swank accessories.

Skaters wear swirling full skirts, gored or circular.

Matching embroidery appears on gowns, suits and hats.

Alligator becomes the smart leather for shoes and bags.

Women are knitting three-quarter roomy coats for spring.

Bolero Twin Sweater Sets Flattering and Youthful

When you are shopping for a new twin sweater set, ask to see the late models that top the knitted pull-over with a cunning bolero rather than with the usual cardigan. They are more flattering and youthful looking. The knitted bolero comes handy to slip on over your short-sleeved dresses when the thermometer takes a plunge downward.

HOUSEWIFE HAS FAVORED DISHES

Cherished Recipes That Appeal to the Family.

By EDITH M. BARBER

ALMOST every housekeeper has some precious recipes which provide dishes that the family especially likes and that her guests appreciate because of some individual touch.

Whenever I can add a recipe of this sort to my collection, I feel that I am indeed fortunate, and I feel sure that you will like to have me share some of these with you. Sometimes, when I am given a cherished recipe, it is with the stipulation that I do not share it with anyone else. Again I am allowed to publish it in my column, perhaps with the hope that no friend or relative will send it back to the town of its origin. I did hear of one which returned to a southern city by India, Paris and New York.

Recipes of this sort are not always novel to everyone, but when they have been a specialty and are extremely good, they attain a sort of glamor. In any case, they are always delicious.

Here are two which have been presented to me by their owners within the last few months.

Yorkshire Tarts.

½ cup butter
1 pound powdered sugar
6 eggs
4 lemons
Tart shells

Cream the butter and work in the sugar. Add the beaten eggs and juice and grated rind of the lemon. Place in a double boiler and stir over hot water until smooth and thick. Cool and use as a filling for tart shells or to put between layers of cake. This filling may be kept in the refrigerator and used as needed.

Orange Bread Pudding

1 cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups scalded milk
2 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
Juice of 2 oranges
Grated rind of 2 oranges

Add bread crumbs and butter to scalded milk and soak thirty minutes. Then add egg yolks beaten with sugar and orange juice and rind. Pour into buttered pudding dish, place dish in shallow pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until firm. Cool and cover with meringue.

WORTH TRYING

Fruit Souffle.

5 egg whites
Salt
1 cup finely-crushed sweetened fruit
Beat egg whites until very stiff. Fold in salt and crushed sweetened fruit. Pour mixture into well-buttered double boiler, cover and cook over hot water one hour, without removing cover. Turn out of boiler onto serving platter and serve with whipped cream or custard sauce.

Fried Clams.

1 pint clams
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Salt
Pepper
Clean clams. Drain and chop. Beat eggs until light, stir in milk alternately with the flour which has been mixed and sifted with the baking powder. Stir in clams and seasonings. Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat, (350 degrees Fahrenheit) and cook until golden brown. Drain on soft paper and serve at once.

French Fried Potatoes.

Peel and slice potatoes in rather long thin pieces. Put into cold water a few minutes. Drain and dry well. Fry in deep fat, hot enough to brown a piece of bread in twenty seconds (350 degrees Fahrenheit). Potatoes will take about twenty minutes to cook unless cut in very thin pieces. Drain on soft paper and salt before serving.

Steamed Soft Clams.

Wash and scrub clams thoroughly, changing water several times. Put into large kettle, allow one-half cup water to four quarts clams; cover closely and steam until shells partly open. Serve with dishes of melted butter. Serve the liquor left in kettle in glasses or cups.

Custard Sauce.

3 egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
Beat eggs slightly, stir in sugar and salt. Stir in scalded milk slowly. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened, or the spoon is coated. Chill and flavor. Honey Toast.

1 egg
½ cup milk
Bread
Butter
Honey
Cinnamon
Beat the egg and add the milk to it. Slice the bread about one-fourth inch thick. Dip the slices in the egg mixture and saute in butter until slightly brown, turning once. Spread with honey to which a little cinnamon has been added.

Palatine at Grant.
Arlington Heights, bye.

The Antioch Sequoits continued their march toward the top of the Northwest conference Friday by defeating the tallend Wauconda team, 26-11. The win raised the Sequoits' average from .600 to .667 and set them up one notch in the pennant chase.

Only three of the 13 teams in the conference stand between the locals and first place. Ela leads the pack with a perfect score of 1.000 for seven straight wins. Leyden has lost one and Niles Center two games, for percentages of .858 and .715 respectively. Antioch has played but six games, losing two.

The Sequoits travel to Gurnee Friday night for a game with their old rivals, the Warren Township High school quint.

Mrs. Chase Is Chosen Altar & Rosary Pres.

Mrs. Paul Chase was elected president of the Altar and Rosary society of St. Peter's church at the annual meeting held Wednesday afternoon at rectory hall. Other officers elected for the ensuing year are: Mrs. W. J. Schindler, vice president; Miss Grace Jyrch, secretary; Mrs. Dudley Kennedy, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Hunt, program chairman.

Following the business session refreshments were served to the 30 members present.

FREDERIC SNYDER--

lieves that the people of dictator-ruled countries have little love for their bosses, but that they are actuated by fear. His remarks regarding dictators indicated that his real opinion of Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini is unprintable; but returning to his native America his statements became more temperate, except for the obvious inferences that could be detected between the lines.

The speaker dwelt long on the fact that five-letter and six-letter words had been prominent in headlines during 1936 and 1937, respectively; which fact would seem to have small significance to the average reader except as an oddity in the news. The same words in other languages doubtless contain different numbers of letters.

Two Roosevelts Make History Repeat
The speaker's remarks took a humorous slant when he read an editorial from the New York Times, which had a peculiar ring of timeliness regarding a third presidential term. Then he revealed the date—1912. That was the year the nearly invincible Teddy Roosevelt wanted a third term and introduced the Bull Moose faction to split the Republican party and place Woodrow Wilson in the White House. "Strange how history repeats itself," Snyder said, "only this time another Roosevelt, also eyeing a third term, will wreck the party which first elected him to the highest honor in the land."

Warns of Catastrophe
Snyder claims to have a peculiar "nose for news" that sometimes pokes itself into the future, enabling him to tip off news vendors of the trend of events in the future. In 1937 he declares he "prophesied" that the word "school" would figure in the news on a national scale, and cited the disaster of the London school in east Texas on March 18 when 455 children and teachers lost their lives in a gas explosion and fire.

Snyder's warning is that three major calamities of world scope will occur in 1938, and that one of them will happen within the borders of the United States. The speaker did not say, however, that such a prediction would be a good bet in any year. Nevertheless, his prophecy, evidently spoken in good faith, is worth remembering.

His address was informative, interesting and well received by the large audience that gave rapt attention to his remarks for 90 minutes. The Woman's club deserves commendation for bringing a speaker of such unusual ability to Antioch.

iently equipped kitchens; real, workable kitchens, (not the synthetic, false-front variety), where trained homemakers will plan, measure, blend, mix and complete appetizing cakes, pies, salads and meat dishes that look as though they could be picked right out of the picture and eaten on the spot.

Keeping pace with the baking, roasting and frying, a series of salads and frozen delicacies will parade in and out of the adaptable electric refrigerator, which will reveal its host of possibilities for simplifying labor and marketing, and contributing to good health and good food.

What to do with left-overs? How to take the gloom out of laundry day? How to save time, energy and temper in meal preparation? How to be attractive in spite of the daily rush? How to make the picnics that men love to eat? How to give first-aid to fallen cakes?

It won't be necessary to ask the questions, for expert home specialists have anticipated these very problems. They know what bothers many an experienced housekeeper, because it is their job to know and to counsel helpfully.

And the camera has assembled all that sound information—not as a routine lecture, not as a formal "high-brow" demonstration, but as a real Romance of Homemaking, full of suspense and charm, and informal chats from one good-cook-to-another.

What about the story and what about the cast?

Some familiar Hollywood faces will be recognized in this production, which was filmed and directed in one of the famous West Coast studios. The heroine is a winsome bride, who shares the perplexities of many an older housekeeper. Actually the title should be "It Might Happen Here," for the human story has universal appeal. And it might have happened right in this community.

Numerous nationally known firms and progressive merchants from our own community are joining with The News in making the entertaining school available. They promise a daily harvest of generous gifts and surprises, which will be distributed in addition to the useful recipe sheets.

Guests of The Antioch News will share a host of new adventures next February 22, 23 and 24 in Antioch Theatre. The bell will ring at two o'clock, so be on hand promptly.

Beau Brummell's Nerve

Beau Brummell, Britain's leader of fashion, died in 1840, but the world is still chuckling over his escapades and colossal nerve. Asked by a beggar for a penny, he said he never heard of such a coin. "Here's a quarter." Returning from a trip abroad a friend inquired what scenery pleased him most, and ringing for his man, he said, "Pray, tell his lordship what scenery we liked best." But the climax of his impudence was the meeting of the crown prince and heir to the throne, walking with a duke, and saying to the duke, "Who's your fat friend?" at a time when the heir to the throne, his former chum and pal, was angry with him.

THE LEGIONNAIRE

Six thousand and three beds for sick and disabled veterans of the U. S. wars are now made available by the addition to hospitals already built. But not at Hines Hospital. 4819 of these beds are at insane hospitals. We are to expect an additional 6000 beds to be constructed by July 1939.

Five new hospitals are being built in addition to the building of new wings at 42 hospitals now in existence. 3153 beds will be placed under contract in other hospitals not under control by the Veterans' Bureau. We urge you to write to your Congressman, Ralph Church asking him to use his influence to open Great Lakes Hospital to Veterans of the World War. This is important and we need those beds now, so just ask the congressman by postal card or a short letter to use his influence to open Great Lakes Hospital. His address is Washington, D. C.

Dr. L. J. Zimmerman, the local service officer, attended a dinner at Highland Park Monday, Jan. 31st. State Commander Applequist was the speaker of the evening and he discussed Hospitalization of the Veteran, he having just returned from Washington, D. C., where he conferred with General Hines and received the information that everything would be done to get a new hospital at Hines.

Every Tuesday night WCFL, "the Voice of Labor" station, 10 to 10:15 will broadcast a Legion radio program.

The Washington Day dinner dance to be held at Pasadena Gardens on Feb. 19, 1938, is attracting a large out-of-town group of Legionnaires. This dance and dinner is given by the firing squad and will be the social event of the season. Tickets are 50c and are on sale at Phillips' Store, Webb's Racket Store and Klass' Store.

At the present time there are 45,692 Veterans in hospitals throughout the United States. Antioch Post has 4 veterans in the hospital at the present time.

Cicero Post of the American Legion gave 20 miles of cigarettes out at Hines on Christmas day—27,780 packages. Some Post!

Illinois now has 50,000 Legionnaires enrolled for 1938. Antioch post has 65. So a few more will put us over the top early this year. Attend the meetings—see what it's all about. The new uniforms are here.

Auxiliary News

Mrs. John Horan is in attendance today at the rehabilitation meeting of the Auxiliary at the Sherman hotel in Chicago.

The next meeting of the 10th district will be at the headquarters of the Homer Dahring Post in Waukegan on Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 8:00 p. m.

The Antioch Unit of the Legion Auxiliary will sponsor a card party and supper at Legion Hall on Friday, Feb. 11, on the occasion of the birthday of the local unit. Invited guests will be husbands of Auxiliary members and Legionnaires and their wives. Mrs. Alma Harden heads the supper committee and Mrs. Otto Klass is chairman of the card committee.

The quarterly meeting of the Auxiliary was held Friday at the home of Mrs. B. R. Burke, with Mrs. Alonzo Runyard and Mrs. George Garland serving on the committee. Winners at cards following the business session were Mrs. Lydia Edwards and Mrs. W. W. Ward.

"Bloody Hand" Coat of Arms

The "bloody hand" or "red hand" of Ulster forms part of the coat of arms of the former province, now Northern Ireland. It is supposed to commemorate the daring of O'Nelle, a bold adventurer, who vowed to be the first to touch the shore of Ireland. Finding the boat in which he was rowed outstripped by others, he cut off his hand and flung it to shore, to touch it before those in advance could land. When James I forfeited the O'Nelle estates in 1611 and created 200 new baronets on payment of a thousand pounds each, ostensibly for the "amelioration of Ulster," he allowed them to place on their coat armor the "open red hand," up to that time borne by the O'Nelles.

First to Make Lifebelts

Lifebelts were first made by Englishman John Edwards in 1805. They really were not perfected for more than 60 years. In more recent times, cork was eliminated from some belts. In its place "kapok," a cotton-like fiber from an East Indian tree was used. This is lighter than cork.

Ice Boxes on Ships

Ice boxes on ships date back to 1858. Shipboard refrigeration came into use in the Campania and Lucania. Cunarders, in 1893.
